Cold War HISTORY

As the Cold War ended, scholars of contemporary international affairs started taking a fresh look at the conflicts which had dominated the later part of the twentieth century. A new historical literature on the Cold War has taken advantage of the increase in access to archives and other source materials in most countries, from the former Communist states in Europe, to China, to South Africa and elsewhere. Experts – often working across national and disciplinary boundaries – are using newly available information to refine, or in some cases destroy, old images and interpretations.

Cold War History is a peer-reviewed journal at the forefront of this emerging scholarship. It is based in the Cold War Studies Programme at LSE IDEAS, the Centre for International Affairs, Strategy and Diplomacy of the London School of Economics and Political Science. The journal aims to make available the results of the best recent research on the Cold War's impact at various levels of statecraft, as well as in areas such as the military, intelligence, the economy, and social and intellectual developments, from a perspective that de-centres the era through paying special attention to the role of Europe and the Third World. Cold War History welcomes contributions from historians from all over the world and representatives of other disciplines on all aspects of the global Cold War, its origins, evolution and present repercussions.

AT HOME AND ABROAD

New Edition The American Century A History of the United States Since the 1890s

Seventh Edition
Walter LaFeber and Richard Polenberg, both, Cornell University;
Nancy Woloch, Barnard College, Columbia University

"If a professor wants a work that does an excellent job of weaving the major events of U.S. history into a format that is both enlightening and thought provoking then this work is highly recommended."
— Teaching History: A Journal of Methods

The new, seventh edition of this classic text for the 20th century course brings the story of contemporary America into the second decade of the twenty-first century with new coverage of the first Obama administration and the elections of 2012. Written by three highly respected scholars, the book seamlessly blends political, social, cultural, intellectual, and economic themes into an authoritative and readable account of our increasingly complex history. The book retains its affordability and conciseness while continuing to add to the most recent scholarship.

CONFERENCE VENUE

The 2013 SHAFR meeting will be held from June 20-22 at the Renaissance Arlington Capital View in Arlington, Virginia. The LEED-certified Capital View is located at 2800 South Potomac Avenue, two miles from Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (airport code DCA). There is complimentary hotel shuttle service every 20 minutes between 7 am and 11 pm to DCA and the Crystal City Metro (blue and yellow lines). In the lobby, SOCCi Urban Italian Kitchen and Bar serves breakfast, lunch, and dinner, while Espressamente illy Coffee House serves coffee and light fare during the day. A 24-hour fitness center and heated indoor pool are also available on site, and there is complimentary wi-fi access in the lobby. SHAFR hotel guests will receive complimentary internet access in their sleeping rooms.

Conference room rates are $139, single or double occupancy, plus tax. The deadline for receiving the conference rate is May 28, 2013. Please note that the hotel is required to honor the reduced rate until this date OR until all the rooms in the SHAFR block have been booked. Once the block is fully booked, the hotel will offer rooms at its usual rate, if any are available, or may even be completely full. Please make your reservation as early as you can.

You can make your reservation by calling the hotel directly at 703-413-1300 and asking for the SHAFR room block. The reservation code is shashaa.

You may also book online. Visit the conference website at <http://www.shafr.org/conferences/annual/2013-annual-meeting/hotel-information/> for information and instructions.
